SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The dying car strike will break out with new violence Monday morning. At a big secret meeting this afternoon all the prominent labor-union leaders of San Francisco mapped out a systematic campaign of bulldozing and intimidating passengers.

The public are to be shadowed, threatened and probably dragged as they leave the cars. The disinterested are to be allowed to get out, but were brutally whipped back into the cars.

They were all given the choice between reporting for special duty Monday morning, or starving with all strike benefits cut off.

Realizing that the whole fabric of labor-unions is in critical danger, the hand of foreign trouble leaders at the head of San Francisco labor unions have thrown out the whining cockeye. Richard Corrigan, from the management of the cars, and himself will be the moving themselves.

FATHERS OF PLOT.

The detailed plan of the system of intimidation was announced to the strikers today by such leaders as Frank T. Tavelmo, the San Francisco Pin, who has organized and directed all the bloody and crime-stained carmen strikes since the start of the year. Miss Casey, whose declining "brutality" in directing the carmen's strike made even the most ardent friends of the strikers shudder. Frank Tavelmo is an ardent friend who has accepted the re-organization of San Francisco's Mayor, of the Sailor's Union, and Tavelmo, the president of the Laborers' District Council, owned the San Francisco.

All these men, just a short time ago—blowhardly—had the courage of their faces—refused to call sympathetic strikes of mix in, on the ground of fearing to endanger the existence of the other unions. The why of their sudden and frenzied change of heart is a labor-unions secret.

TO RENEW BLOOD.

It was announced at the secret meeting that Tavelmo's bold "picket" under whose direction the horrors of the last water-front strike took place, will be placed at the head of the "most work" of the carmen leaders.

Under his orders union pickets will follow out the pickets who went off a street car in the city of San Francisco. Almost as strict surveillance will be kept upon the strikers themselves, to see that they "do their duty."

It is evident that Tavelmo has planned the unions to "work the ordeals"—to use the expressive phrase with which his Sailor's Union minutes are decorated.

The special reason for calling the meeting was the secret circulation of a circular from the Secretary Bowling of the Carmen's Union had defrauded with $5,000 of the strike funds and was exacting around with wild young lad, while the carmen's own families were starving. The union leaders realized that in their present disheartened condition the carmen would not remain on strike twenty-four hours longer unless some desperate action was taken.

OUTS REPORTS.

The meeting took place in a little ramshackled hall on Golden Gate Avenue in which grim sights are seen. Although previous knowledge of the secret meeting was held to the public, four gates had to be held at the door at the door who could not show the working card of the Carmen's Union.

The five members of the executive committee (Tavelmo, Tavelmo, Casey, McCarthy and MacArthur) were admitted on their faces. Tavelmo jumped a foot or two in the air, shouting, "We don't want no reporters!" he squealed. "No reporters allowed." Then they were all thrust out.

A roar went up from the numbers of other unions who were kept out. Some of the excluded union men got up a sort of mass-meeting on the curbstones to protest.

"The carmen are taking an assessment from us every week to live on while they are on strike, and now that the door is open to us, it was the burden of their nose."

ALL BLAME PINHEAD.

An usual they laid the blame on the head of Pinhead McCarthy, who is now blamed for everything that goes wrong in the unions.

At the opening of the meeting, Corrigan took the chair, but late Bowlin was called upon to be seated. It was an expression of confidence—in us. The Mayor was still inclined that Bowlin actually did default with a large sum of union money.

Tavelmo, in his heavy foreign voice, made a speech in Bowlin's defense when the meeting opened.

"All the money that has been es-laxed to pay you strike benefits," he said. "In a safety deposit vault in a bank on Mission street, I tell you that no one can get at that money alone. There are five of us on this executive committee, and the money can only be taken out when three of us are present."

Tavelmo went on to urge the men to stay with the strike, saying that there is plenty of money in the union treasury to finance and support it. One of the carmen got up, however, and said that he wanted to go back to work—said he was discouraged and did not believe that the carmen would ever win.

LOUTS FOR BLOOD.

A man who listened to the proceedings of the secret meeting says that Tavelmo declared:

"The unions must win this fight if we have to go through rivers of blood."

Every other remark attributed to Tavelmo was actually made by him. He may also have said this atrocious thing, although he said it was the carmen who were "brutally" treated.

His remarks were at first greeted with silence, but the other men began to laugh a certain way, and then, for a moment, the Pin, with glowing eyes and a smile on his face, stepped into the center of the room.

"He is unquestionably a man of ability and has demonstrated his loyalty to San Francisco that the way to win strike is by organized brutal-

TYLES HIS HOPES.

Bowlin predicted that the Geary-street line will soon be taken under municipal management, and that the California-street line will soon be forced to give in, and that traffic can be diverted from the United Railroads lines into the two roads.

He said that if the car men will only manage to hold out for five months, there will be another municipal election—he seemed to think another labor-union administration will then be upon San Francisco.

Today he addressed the men of the State Department, and with President Diaz, who was a blunt fellow with a harsh, sharp voice. He said the unions might as well look the fact in the face that Calhoun has demonstrated that he has men to do vigorous picket duty.

He told them with bitter plainness that if they will go in and make a good fight they should have the resources of the combined unions of San Francisco—but he warned them against playing traitor to the cause of unionism. He said they must go back to work. He warned the strikers that if they will not do vigorous picket duty they will not be strike benefits if they do not work for the union.

Georgia Urges Renomination of Mr. Roosevelt.

Again Suggests That Bryan Make the Speech.

Plan Proposed as Last Hope of Democracy.

DE DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
WASHINGTON, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Why not have an era of good feelings such as came in Monroe's time? Don't let us sweep horses in the middle of the stream. Don't let us change general in the middle of a battle. My proposition is that Mr. Bryan nominate Mr. Roosevelt for the Presidency is a double-barreled proposition, for it would mean the regeneration of the Democratic party into an all-new, all-new party, with the Federal party will carry all before it. For again, a victory is the only thing we can do to save ourselves, for we can never beat Roosevelt, and I doubt if we can beat any one who wears his mantle."

This is the vein in which John Thomas of Georgia, talked when he called at Washington, en route back from his visit to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

"Why, look at us," continued Mr. Thomas, "we are the Democratic party. We can nominate Bryan, Belmont, Cleveland, Ryan and all the others. And what has Mr. Roosevelt left us that he does not advocate himself? He is not a Democrat, he is a Roosevelt, which we don't want. He forged these strong Democratic bonds in the name of Jefferson in his speech. The inheritance of the party is his."

Mr. Bryan has the most beautiful personal character that ever appeared in American politics, but we don't know him. He is a progressive, sturdy, and courageous with the qualities of a general, and is indispensable in the great economic crisis. The powers of predatory wealth would sweep down upon us if we were to withdraw him before he was ready to speak, and we would be reduced to him the reigns of authority."

"I only you to name one man who combines the qualifications of courage, brains, personal knowledge, and ability to speak, with the personal magnetism of Roosevelt. That combination combined with the prestige of his education and the fact that he already has the troops and the railroads at bay, makes him indispensable for any man to take his place."

Members of the party are laughing over an incident of the trip from St. Paul to Fort Madison. The train was late because of a collision of two cars attributed to the envelopments of the Secretary and his companions, who, like him, tip the beam, somewhere between St. Paul and Fort Madison, was sitting in a double seat with United States Senator Kittredge and Dick Woods of Sioux Falls, when the rear truck of the car directly beneath them burst and the additional caused considerable delay.

A new building record was made for Los Angeles, yesterday, by the erection of a modest cottage on East Jefferson street. In a single day there was a change from an unsightly vacant lot to a neat bit of land with a pretty cottage home of five rooms upon it and the whole surrounded by an attractive wire fence.

No costly shaft of granite pointing skyward—equal to this unpretentious structure as a practical monument of love and sympathy. It was built by a suffering from tobacco poison-

The pudding had been served to another patron who had placed a quid of tobacco in it.
When the pudding was re-was poured upon it. Thomas was in a hurry and did not notice the tobacco until after he had eaten the dessert.

QUICK CLIMB

Trail in Less Than Two Hours.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE)
SIERRA MADRE, June 16.—A Los Angeles boy, Eugene Estoppay, undoubtedly broke the record for climbing up the Wilson's Peak trail today. He left the foot of the trail here at 8:30 o'clock this morning and arrived at the hotel at the peak in an hour and fifty-nine minutes. After a brief rest he returned by the same trail by the "Little Santa Anita Cabin" and arrived at the foot here at 12:35 o'clock p.m.

Young Estoppay made the climb without carrying any unnecessary luggage. In going up he passed the Half-Way House at 9:15 o'clock. It was a hot run over the mountain side path which, in the forenoon, is much of it directly exposed to the sun. The lad, who is 17, was in fairly good condition when he reached the end of his round-trip journey. The most of his life has been spent in Switzerland, where he has done a great deal of mountain climbing.

Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

and his party left Fort Defiance Sunday morning, May 19, did not reach their expected destination that night. Fears were entertained for their safety.

"We were never in any danger," said Leupp. "We wandered from the trail on the first day, and finally were hospitably cared for at the ruins of an old reservation. The following day we again lost the trail. We were then met by an old Indian, who gave us food and sent his son to guide us. We might have been forced to go on short rations for a few hours, but all of the party were accustomed to roughing it. I was much surprised to read the story of our losing ourselves."

Commissioner Leupp arrived in this city yesterday and is staying at the Hotel Van Nuys. Today he will start for the Mescalero reservation in New Mexico. He will return to attend the convention of the National Educational Association.

SAY THE GRIND IS TOO HARD.

CRITICISM IS DIRECTED TO PASADENA SCHOOLS.

Comment is made on the fact that the proportion of boys in the High School is small—change to permit more practical things to be taught is urged.

Of The Times, No. 25 South Raymond ave. PASADENA, June 11.—A strong and growing sentiment that the Pasadena public schools, good as they are reputed to be, are not quite filling the bill, is finding expression in the New Century Club, a special meeting of the members of which is called for next Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. S. White, No. 499 North Robles avenue. The matter has been considered already, but at the next meeting local parents and parents of pupils now in the schools and just graduated will thrash it out.

The feeling of many parents amounts to a conviction that the courses of study are not sufficiently practical, and that when the children leave school they are almost less fitted to enter the battle of life than if they had not gone to school at all. At the same time, it is admitted by Superintendents of the schools that, either with the schools or the parents, there is something radically wrong, because the graduating classes of the High School are made up so largely of girls that their predominance over boys makes the boys look insignificant. The question is, can the criticism of the absence of the male aggregation further, for he thinks the men of Pasadena are too inconspicuous on many public occasions when they are present, in comparison of the class just graduated. Superintendent Graham said:

"I note with some sorrow that there are many more girls than boys in this city. I am sure that is the case. Looking over the audience that attended the graduating exercises in the Methodist Church Friday evening, I wondered where the men were. Most of them were students in the schools at home, or else used the excuse of condition of the building as an excuse not to come."

It appears from what is said by parents that the members of the New Century Club that they are convinced that too much is put into the courses of study, the minds of the children are overburdened, while at the same time what the children do come into the schools do not keep them busy. Complaint is made that there is not enough individual instruction, and this leads some members of the club to favor the employment of more teachers. It is also asserted that the strong influence exerted itself upon the Board of Education and the City Council to increase the pay of teachers already employed, this for financial reasons, and that the present opposition to increases in pay is due to the condition of the teaching staff.

The thought leaders are much awakened on the subject, and one result of this week's meeting is sure to be a call to a general right work after school hours in order to help meet expenses while he is attending the High School, and he finds that when his attention is on any other subject from school work he fails in behind the girls in scholarship, and this so affects his sensitiveness that, as soon as the law allows it, he leaves school and goes to work.

It is understood that an effort will be made by the New Century Club to ascertain what the percentage is of pupils who fall by the wayside and never complete the course of study. It is also by no means confirmed to the High School. The sentiment, so far as it has thus far found expression, is that the grammar courses need revision also.

HOME AND BUSINESS SALES.

For a dull season in reality a great many good sales have been made, and some of them are to wealthy residents, who are coming to establish permanent homes. Some of the leading local business people have shown uneasiness because the tremendous gains previously made in the real estate market have fallen off, but no one deny that there is a steady, healthy growth in population and increase in taxable wealth. There will be an acceleration of the movement toward the High School. The sentiment, so far as it has thus far found expression, is that the grammar courses need revision also.

SEASIDE CITY SAYINGS. Nearly three hundred Knights of Pythias from Long Beach and all parts of the county attended the third rank exemplification between the teams of Long Beach and Santa Monica, last Friday, the third contest for the Los Angeles County trophy cup to be awarded the winner of the finals in the fall. City Clerk Fred P. Baldwin was the referee, and the Santa Monica team, while Santa Monica, having no candidate, lost fifteen points, and had to use a volunteer. The judges were compelled to leave for home before the end of the game, but were soon far enough to concede the decision to Long Beach. The judges were J. A. Venard, San Bernardino; G. W. Irwin, North Dakota; K. A. Miller, Los Angeles.

The music feature of Chautauqua this year will be in charge of Prof. Henry Schoenfeld, and the two principal concerts will be given under his direction. The cost of these will be $6.50. The total for June is approximately $10,000. Included among the week's permits were residences for Charlotte Kline, on California avenue; Leah Meyer, on Eighth street; Summerland Realty Company, in Fountain Glen tract; and a store building at Aliso, all on the ocean front near the new British Hotel.

He made some pointed allusions to the popular appreciation of what is symbolized by "the man with the big stick." He did not say whether he was referring to Roosevelt, but he left no doubt as to the personality of the man to whom he referred.

He said he did not wish to be considered a "big stick" man, the one who used the big stick, but he definitely stated the public sentiment that glorified that sort of thing. All the teachings of Christ were opposed to the use of force.

The purpose of the great peace parliament at The Hague is not to attain a world peace by methods of belligerency.

Those who have opposed peace measures as impractical, have over-ruled the point of aggressiveness, and they pointed with satisfaction to the failure of the last Hague conference, as proved by the conference was better received by Japan, but Mr. MacCormack found good ground for the hope in the fact that a world conference is now possible at least for even twenty years ago it would have been unthinkable that the representatives of many of the nations now interested to have attended at that time.

RUN OVER BY AUTO.

A search was made yesterday to locate the owner of a runabout automobile that ran down a Japanese at the corner of Raymond avenue and Main Colorado street at about mid-night. Saturday. The number of the vehicle is 2024, but it is not likely that anything serious will happen if the owner is found, for the testimony of witnesses of the accident is to the man if he was hurt, but as the Japanese could not speak English, he could not give an intelligent explanation.

It was not thought at first that the man was injured, but it developed yesterday that his condition was serious, his spine being injured. Some fellow-countrymen yesterday took him out of town.

GRIFTS OF TEN THOUSAND.

Two Pasadena women, who will not name their names, but the police have placed in the hands of Judge H. H. Klammer, the sum of $10,000 to be used in paying the executive expenses connected with founding a George Junior Republic. The judge has been retained by the parents of the boy, and he is to be paid $100 a day for his services.

The boy, who was graduated from the High School, has been considered already, but at the next meeting local parents and parents of pupils now in the schools and just graduated will thrash it out.

EXCITING POKER JOINT RAID.

By climbing a ladder and breaking through a second-story window, a squad of police officers caught a lot of gamblers in a joint poker game in an old building in the rear of South Delaney avenue early Sunday morning. There were a number of Mexicans in the building, and they were playing cards in all sorts of places, but Chief Patrol, with Officers Copping, Phears, Shotts and Odell, captured five Mexicans, all of whom were able to give ball, for the amount necessary for that purpose.

The officers got cards, and about a pack of lime beans which were aliases for chips.

THE ARGENTINE IS PROSPEROUS.

Forging Ahead of Chile—Growing More and More Stable—Vast in Resources as Well as in Area—Buenos Aires a City of Millionaires.

BY FRANCIS E. CLARK, D.D., LL.D.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

BUEENOS AIRES, April 22.—The most prosperous country in South America today is the Argentine Republic, in the opinion of many, Brazil, to be sure, is pressing Argentina hard, and on account of her far larger territory, population and greater resources, may distance her in the race, but the other countries are scarcely in the same class. Chile, the ancient rival of Argentina, until recently considered her equal, in resources and military power, but, while Argentina is forging ahead, Chile, of late years, has been losing ground, and the great earthquake, followed by her recent financial difficulties, and the depreciation of her currency, is widening the gap between the resources of these two republics; though half a dozen years of peace and financial prosperity for Chile, and a revolution or a few "founds years" for Argentina, wheat fields, might reverse the balance.

The latter contingencies are not likely, however, for the federal government of Argentina is growing more and more stable, and every year her limits, wheat, fields and pasture lands are more extended north and south and west.

Moreover, Argentina, is on the right side of the Atlantic. She is opposite Europe, with which she has almost daily communication. She can reach the capital of Brazil in four days, New York in three weeks, while the shabby steamers that crawl up the west coast of South America took two or three days in reaching Panama, and nearly twice as long to reach San Francisco.

MIGHTY RESOURCES.

The traveler gets a tremendous impression of the mighty resources of Argentina in crossing from the Andes to the coast. The journey from Mendoza to Buenos Aires is about 700 miles in less than a day, a night and a day on a fast train.

Except for one low range of mountains near the western side, one rises over an altitude of 10,000 feet. Not a hillock is big as a good-sized ant hill is in sight; not a mile of rolling prairie; not a barn, scarcely a house beside an occasional mud hut with a straw roof. A very few villages break the monotony of the view for hundreds of miles.

Great haystacks for miles and miles, and herds of countless cattle are the only objects to be seen on the western side. And yet this is one of the richest countries of the world over which we have been traveling. Here lies the exhaustless wealth of Argentina, for these prairies are millions of acres, and hundreds of millions of cattle, and out of this mellow and prolific soil will grow wheat and corn enough to feed half the world.

With the car travel from the transcontinental railway is only a little ribbon of land, a few miles wide, on either side of the track, while for hundreds of miles, north and south and east and west, extends the great, featureless plain without a mile of desert to mar the scene. The available wheat land of Argentina is estimated at 240,000,000 acres, though not 10 per cent. of this is yet under cultivation.

So level and unobstructed are these pampas, that the railway runs for 175 miles without a curve, the longest piece of straight track in the world. While the people of Argentina is still largely a country of possibilities. As compared with our own prairies of Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, its development has but just begun. The great, rolling fields of corn and wheat, but thousands of comfortable farmhouses, tree-shaded villas, thriving towns with churches, schools and courthouses.

How it strains your aching, dust-filled eyes to get a glimpse of anything besides herds of cattle and flocks of sheep. Away off in the distance, after gazing through the window of the train for hours, you may, perhaps you see a single house that is worthy of the name, surrounded by trees and gardens. In some distance you would see, in the same distance, a house with a high roof, and on an estancia or gigantic farm occupied for a few weeks of the year by the wealthy owner who lives for the rest of the twelve months in some palace of Buenos Aires.

THE ESTANCIAS.

Scattered here and there over the prairies are some wretched mud huts where the actual tillers of the soil live. These are usually Indian peasants, who earn $30 or $35 a month in addition to all the meat (mutton) they want to eat, and who often, between harvests, go back to sunny Italy to work where they have earned, and then to return again before the next harvest time.

Many of these estancias contain 20,000, even 50,000 acres, and not a few proprietors have estates run up into the hundreds of thousands. Probably there is no country in the world where wealth is accumulated in the hands of a few as in Argentina. Considering the whole wealth of the country, our multimillionaires are poor men proportionately, compared with the magnates of Argentina. One cannot regard this as a healthy state of affairs, but, doubtless, the concentration increases wealth and land will be more evenly distributed, and the cultivators of the soil will own it instead of leaving it for the lords of the land.

In comparison with Argentina with other countries, F. G. Carpenter says: "If we could lift it up at the corners, turn it around and spread it upon the United States from east to west, we could find no place in the New York, the borders of Brazil and Bolivia, which bound Argentina on the north, would be some distance beyond Salt Lake City. It could cut Argentina in half, with patches of land and fit them upon our territory, every inch of land east of the Mississippi would be covered, and the remnant would be larger than all the areas of Australia and that of Russia."

The Argentine Republic is twelve times as large as Great Britain. It is five times the size of France, and it is greater in area than the United States, Canada, Mexico, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Utah, Colorado and Kansas combined."

PRODUCTIVE TERRITORY LARGE.

But the real size of a country cannot be measured by the number of square miles over which its flag flies, but rather by the amount of its productive territory, and the population it can sustain. Measured on this basis, too, Argentina is a great country, for the proportion of its unproductive territory is very small. To be sure, there are vast, bleak, wind-swept areas in South America, but, even then, some of the best sheep in the world can be raised. In the west, Argentina's territory sweeps up to the crest of the Andes but the slope is steep, and we Ayres, for this cosmopolitan city supports daily newspapers in all the great model languages, thus summarizing the condition of the republic at the beginning of 1900.

"The new year begins under the best auspices for the Argentine Republic, and with all the usual and complete order prevailing throughout the whole extent of its vast territory. The harvest bids fair to be the most abundant ever known; the pasture lands for cattle and sheep, and the high prices which are being realized for wool, make the hearts of the people glad. The present current of immigration supplies the labor needed by the development of agriculture (the result of the rapidly increasing diamond and silver estates), for the construction of railways, tramways, ports and other public works, which are in the course of construction, and for the exploitation of forests and rivers.

The idea of making new additions to the navy appears to have been abandoned for the present, and all men hope that an armament with Brazil will be unnecessary, a rivalry with that Power in the acquisition of armaments.

The balance of trade has again turned in favor of the Argentine, and consequently the stock of gold in the Conversion Office is constantly increasing.

Postmaster Michael E. Cassidy of Bisbee is now a beneficent, having been married last week in this city to Miss Eliza M. Clegg.

At Solomon's Hill, Wednesday, were wedded Jacob Weinberger, a Globe attorney, and Miss Blanche Solomon, daughter of a pioneer merchant and capitalist of the town which bears his name.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD FEELING COUNTS AT DOUGLAS.

MEXICAN. After Killing Man in Territory, Runs Across Boundary, but a Lot of His Countrymen Compel Him to Go Back into Hands of a Waiting Deputy Sheriff.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

BISBEE, Ariz., April 15.—At last Justice Tompkins has cause to regret the excellent good feeling that exists between the citizens of that city and those of the Mexican town of Agua Prieta, just across the border to the southward. Tompkins had had a fight with a compatriot, José Francisco, terminated by a change made by the former from fists to steel. Drawing a prim and self-possessed person in an impeccable black silk gown and cap, he sat with his half-clothed, but altogether gay and irresponsible. The modern saleswoman is, at least on duty, a prim and self-possessed person in an impeccable black silk gown and cap, he sat with his half-clothed, and her language as polished as that of a school reader.

The change from the old methods of business to the new is hardly greater than the change in the girl who waits on the counter. The old-time filet bontone, wearing a cap and apron, was half shorngi and half sailor, but altogether gay and irresponsible. The modern saleswoman is, at least on duty, a prim and self-possessed person in an impeccable black silk gown and cap, she sat with her half-clothed, and her language as polished as that of a school reader.

Formerly only girls were taken who had worked three years in some small establishment, but as 20 is the maximum age of the entrance, either the school or the practical training has to be given, says the New York Sun.

The management of the big houses now encourage the girls to get all the schooling they can and come to their young and well-grounded, even though less experienced.

The situations are in great demand. It is said that establishments employing from 500 to 900 saleswomen have from 700 to 900 applications annually. Not only the aptitude, but the character and the manner in which the candidate is considered, and after the sifting process is completed, landing a place is very often a matter of pull.

One of the Chamber of Deputies was long known in Paris as "papa of saleswomen." It is said that he was in the habit of securing places for about sixty a year. His influence grew out of his political practices.
